Seven Executives Make Accreditation Survey March 23, 24

Seven California college executives completed, last Tuesday and Wednesday an accreditation survey of Santa Ana College, a service offered each junior college every five years as a guide to the community service it offers.

Accreditation surveys are a joint service of the Western College Association and the California Junior College Association. They provide an objective evaluation of curricula, activities, plant facilities, faculty, community service and other phases of the college program.

Dr. Daniel McNaughton, college director and himself chairman of a similar committee which next month will visit Yuba Junior College at Marysville, welcomed the educators last Monday evening, along with Superintendent Lynn Crawford.

Paul Clymer, president of the College of Marin at Kentfield, is chairman of the Santa Ana committee. Others are Roscoe Ingalls, president, East Los Angeles Junior College; Leo Wadsworth, Director, Chaffey College; Dr. Bernard Hyink, Dean of Students, University of Southern California; Dr. E. V. Pullias, Dean Pepperdine College, and Herbert D. Gwinn, Secondary Education Consultant, State Department of Education.

Board Members to Attend Three Day Government Confab

Five members of SAC's Executive Board will attend the California Junior College Student Government Association, April 1, 2, and 3, at the Hotel Del Coronado, in Coronado.

Gathering with other college executives, the board members will discuss problems of student government and activities.

Those attending from SAC, and the workshops they will attend are: Bill Grant, President's workshop; Bob La Porte, Finance; Budd Coons; athletics; Jeanne Lancaster, organizations and activities; and Maureen Holthe, public relations and publicity.

Hosting more than 400 student leaders and advisers from the sixty-five colleges attending the affair will be San Diego Junior College. Also serving as co-hosts for the mammoth event will be Ocean-side-Carlsbad College, Palomar College, and Riverside College.

The group will leave Santa Ana College Thursday morning and will return Saturday evening.

Loan Fund Set Up On Campus

An honor type "Borrow-a-Buck" fund has been established at SAC by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alleman of Santa Ana in memory of their son, Aldon A. Alleman, a graduate of 1939, it was announced today by Mr. Ernest Crain.

Any student may make an immediate small loan of 2, 3, 5, or 10 dollars from the fund on a short term basis paying no interest or carrying charges. At the time the loan is repaid, small contributions from the borrower are acceptable to perpetuate the fund.

The procedure will be handled by Mr. Crain in the college placement office.

Taking the idea from Texas A&M's "Loan-A-Buck Fund," which was started with only $10 and has progressed to $6000 without a loss, Mr. Alleman established the fund in memory of his son Aldon A. Alleman who was killed in an Air Force plane crash at White City Kan., on Jan. 5, 1943.

This is the first loan fund of its kind to be set up in California. Dr. Daniel McNaughton, college director, praised the unique memorial and said that it would be of great benefit to students.

Scholarships And Awards Announced By Force; Honors Exceed Two Hundred Dollars

Seventeen different scholarships and $275 in awards from local organizations have been announced by Dr. Edwin T. Force, General Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Honors and Scholarships, today.

The California Congress of Parents and Teachers is making available $300 scholarships for upper division students who plan to go into elementary teaching. Sixteen prominent California colleges and universities also have scholarships available.

Applications should be made by writing directly to the scholarship committee of the school which the student plans to attend.

$50 Scholarship

A $50 scholarship has been offered for an outstanding woman of the graduating class of Santa Ana College who is preparing for the teaching profession by the Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Applications should be completed before May 1. Women students interested should contact the Dean of Women, Miss Miller.

Los Angeles State College has announced two Plumbing Engineering scholarships for $1000 each to be awarded annually. Students eligible for this would be those who plan to complete a program in this work in upper division at Los Angeles State College.

Applications and information folders regarding these scholarships are available in the Office of the Head Counselors. This requires immediate action as selection will be made before April 16.

The Soroptimist Club of Santa Ana has established an annual scholarship of $125 for a graduating woman student, who qualifies in leadership ability in the field she has chosen, and is in need of assistance.

Apply To Force

Students interested in making an application should write their needs and requests to Dr. Force, chairman of the local committee on scholarships. Deadline for the applications is April 15.

Robert L. Brown, Santa Ana Book Store proprietor, now offers an award of $100 each at the commencements to the man and woman student with the highest academic standing.

In offering an award of $100 each this year, Mr. Brown is doubling the $50 prize which have been a traditional feature at the graduation exercises.

Faculty Club And Wives Plan SAC Open House

Hundreds of friends of Santa Ana College and parents of high school seniors in surrounding communities will be guests next Tuesday at the annual campus open house, sponsored by the Faculty Club and the Faculty Wives.

Entertainment will be continuous throughout the afternoon, with several showings of the Gay Nineties Revue presented in Studio A by the College Players, under direction of Lee Ford, chairman of the college drama department. There also will be a musical presentation by the College Swing Choir, directed by Gordon Wheatley, in the lounge of the Student Union.

Visitors will be greeted at registration tables in the breezeway of the Administration Building, and organized campus tours will leave regularly from this point under guidance of the Knights and Las Doncellas, college men's and women's service groups.

Included in the tours will be the business education buildings, which are equipped for instruction in the most up to date office machines and business methods; science and engineering laboratories; the library and fine arts group, including the theater workshop and music rehearsal rooms; and the vocational buildings, where exhibits of student projects in auto mechanics and machine shop are being prepared.

Instructors in all departments will be in their offices and at the coffee hour in the Student Union to greet parents of prospective students and to explain their curricula to visitors.

Although several hundred invitations have been mailed, the open house is planned for all interested persons.

Dancing And Club Booths At Frolic Tonight

Fortune telling booths, shooting galleries, and hot dog stands will occupy the Student Union tonight for the annual Gypsy Doodle Dance and Carnival, sponsored by the Las Gitanas and Inter Club Council.

Las Gitanas, who is sponsoring the Gypsy Doodle half, has made arrangements for Rojas and His Harmonaires to provide the music for the dance which they sponsor annually.

La Porte Heads

Bob La Porte, AS vice-president is heading the Inter Club Council's committee planning the Carnival. Those on the committee are Diane Frisbe, of the Las Gitanas; Del Shields, of the Las Caballeros; Connie Durham, of the Las Hidas; and Orlan Grunklee, of the Young Farmers.

Each having a spot on the patio, the club booths include penny pitching and shooting galleries, sponsored by the Newman Club and the International students respectively. Other booths include fortune telling, Las Caballeros; dart throwing at balloons, Las Hidas; cake and coffee stand, Veterans Club; hot dog stand, Las Meninas; fish pond, Los Caballeros; and the Young Farmers will give a Duckling to the person who can throw a ping pong ball into a mason jar.

Booths Planned

Other planning booths are the Spinsters, Bachelors, Buccaneers, and the Spanish Club.

Heading the committee for the dance is Las Gitanas President Louise Wilson, and is assisted by Pat Geiger, and Virginia Webster, who are in charge of decoration; Barbara Buehner in charge of tickets and checking; Dorothy Dees, publicity; and Esther Valles, the club booth.

The carnival will start at 8:00 p.m. and the dance at 9:00 p.m. running through until 12:00.

It has been advised that the women wear peasant blouses and cotton skirts; general informal sport clothes for the men is recommended, in keeping with the gypsy atmosphere.

Students Fail To Meet Diario Deadline

"If the students would only read it!" is the cry of Mrs. Helen Wilde, secretary to Dr. McNaughton, and Miss Toni Miller, producers of El Diario, SAC's daily bulletin.

The deadline for entries to be included is two o'clock of the day before El Diario hits the bulletin boards and instructors mail boxes. The news items are written on special forms, which must be signed by a faculty advisor or instructor. The dates of any activities must be checked with the secretary to the Deans, Hazel R. Gish.

El Diario is printed on a different colored paper each day, and sometimes Toni draws a picture to attract the students' attention.

SAC Welcomes Visiting Students Planning Careers In Journalism

The journalism department and Santa Ana College wishes to extend a warm welcome to the visiting high school journalists who are participating in the Journalism Workshop, April 2.

SAC offers its facilities to these seniors with the hope that they will profit from the experiences of visiting our school and observing just how the El Don staff operates.

Here, too, you can meet the press of Orange County—the working editors in your community. They have judged your papers and will discuss newspaper problems with you on the afternoon of Journalism Day. Thus you will gain a better idea of just what is required of local reporters, and what makes a good reporter in the eyes of these editors.

You will have the opportunity to talk with the editors, reporters, and photographers on the El Don staff, which, as any college newspaper, is the next step up to a professional career in journalism from high school.

We operate our paper in the same way a metropolitan newspaper is run, only on a smaller scale. Contact Editor Al Zimmerman or Journalism Instructor Carl Venstrom if you have any additional questions on your future in the field of newspaper work.

We hope that you will make note of which aspects of the program you like, and which you don't like. Any suggestions you have for next year's workshop will be appreciated.

This afternoon has been set aside for you—we hope you will find it valuable.

Journalism Grads Prove Successful In Newspaper Field

News received from former Journalism students has proven again that SAC graduates succeed in their fields after graduation.

El Don editor of 1953 Bob Elsner was recently appointed to the paying position of Assistant feature editor and a copy reader on the University of Southern California campus newspaper the Daily Trojan.

While editor at SAC, Elsner guided the El Don to the First Class honor award given for all-around general excellence by the University of Minnesota.

Elsner Prexy At SAC Elsner also was ASB president, president of the freshman class, publicity commissioner, Knight president and El Don sports editor.

Bud Ottaway, 1952-53 sports editor is now serving with the army and is presently assigned to a clerk typists school in Germany.

Jane Lindemuth, 1951 El Don co-editor will receive her degree from Stanford University soon and was recently recommended for a national newspaper award. While she was editor, El Don won the prized All-American award, the highest honor given by the University of Minnesota.

Frank Errota, SAC journalism graduate of '49 and San Jose grad of '51, is presently a sports writer on the San Jose Mercury. While at SAC Errota received national recognition for his outstanding sports editing and writing.

Werley Editor Bob Werley, El Don managing editor of '48, is presently a news reporter in Arizona, and Sam Strange, SAC editor of '49, is presently a managing editor of a weekly in Illinois. Marlene Veeh, El Don feature editor during '51, is presently Assistant Society Ed-

Del Ano Predicted To Have An 'Interesting Production'

Del Ano, the SAC yearbook for 1954 will have more pages and it will be a "refreshing and interesting production" predicts Herb Larsh, the hard-working managing editor.

Mr. John W. (Sky) Dunlap, assistant director and advisor for this year's annual, said that, "the 1954 yearbook will be characterized by a Spanish theme, informality, big pictures, and a larger sports section with more space devoted to women's sports and track. The faculty will have pictures taken in their departments as well as the traditional head shots. Students will be encouraged to submit snapshots of their own," continued Dunlap.

Pascual Rivas, an art major designed the beautiful black and gold cover and is working on the section pages which will also carry out the Spanish theme. The same decorative type will be used for the headings in the 1954 annual as was used in the 1930 yearbook, which also had a Spanish theme.

First Yearbook From 1921 when the first SAC yearbook was issued until 1931 the annual was named after Algol a star in the constellation Perseus. There was a good deal of printing in the earlier issues. In 1928 the annual was a symphony in blue. It had blue covers, blue printing and pictures, and blue drawings of father Neptune, mermaids and water babies.

Fine printing was emphasized in the thirties. Man in relation to the universe was the theme of the 1932 edition when the book was dedicated to Jennie Lasby Tessman, instructor of astronomy and history. A Chinese theme was used in 1933. The 1936 annual was dedicated to Horace A. Scott, instructor of geology. This book has a metallic front piece, a colored picture of a scene in Zion National Park, and other pictures taken in the National Parks of the Western States.

Black pages are sprinkled throughout the annuals of the early 40's. They have less writing, more pictures. Military training on the campus is mentioned, and later there are honor rolls for SAC students who lost their lives in the war. The 1943 annual is done in black and white and is sad and depressing.

Marten Adviser Mr. Royal C. Marten, student counselor, was the adviser for the yearbooks from 1950 to 1953. The 1952 and 1953 annuals won First Place Certificates from the Columbia Press Association in New York City.

County High School Students To Meet For Journalism Day

Student journalists from Orange County high school newspapers and yearbooks will meet to discuss campus publication problems at the first annual Santa Ana College Journalism Workshop on Friday, April 2, in the college Student Union.

Six professional Orange County newspaper workers have judged scores of entries in a variety of classifications covering student newspapers, and results will be announced as a highlight of the general session to follow workshop group meetings.

The sweepstakes award for the best all-around newspaper will be a trophy given by the Orange County unit of the California Newspaper Publishers Association, which also is giving certificates of merit for three place winners in each of 11 categories.

Professional Judges The professional judges will be guests at the workshop, where they will form a panel to discuss newspaper problems for the students. The panel will include Harry Harvey, city editor of the Santa Ana Register, who will act as moderator; Howard Loudon, publisher of the Anaheim Bulletin and president of the county CNPA organization; Dale Kroeson, editor of the Cypress Enterprise; William Ottaway, publisher of the Laguna Beach South Coast News; Helen Johnson, Orange County feature writer for the Los Angeles Times, and Richard Smith, printing adviser for the Santa Ana City Schools.

Loudon will make the presentation of the trophy, while Harvey will present the merit awards.

Instructors Meet Invited to participate in the workshop are students from Anaheim, Brea-Olinda, Capistrano, Fullerton, Garden Grove, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach, Mater Dei, Newport Harbor, Orange, Santa Ana, Tustin and Valencia. Journalism instructors and publications advisors will participate in a separate conference with Carl Venstrom, head of the college journalism department. Al Zimmerman, editor of the SAC newspaper, El Don, and Herb Larsh, yearbook editor, will be hosts.

at the home of Miss Lota Blythe, faculty adviser. Miss Rita Riggs is also an adviser for this club.

The new members installed were Hortensia Chavarria, Barbara Lawrence, Marlene Monahan, and Connie Rojo.

Fifteenth Trip To Europe Will Be Made By English Instructor Glenn

Mr. T. H. Glenn, chairman of the English department at Santa Ana College, will make his fifteenth trip to Europe this summer.

This summer's journey will be Glenn's eleventh as a professional tour leader in charge of taking a group of Americans on a conducted tour of Europe. Glenn stated today "that except for one or two possible vacancies, next summer's tour has been completely booked."

In addition to his European visits Glenn has traveled widely in the Americas, the Orient and the South Pacific. He attended Oxford University in England, the Institute de Touraine in Tours, and the Alliance Francaise in Paris.

During the Second World War Glenn served as an officer in the Army Signal Corps. He was on the faculty of Biarritz American University, with the American Army of Occupation in Germany, and with the Headquarters of the American Army in Paris.

Twelve Week Tour
Glenn's tour this summer will be for twelve weeks and the group will visit England, Ireland, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, and the Scandinavian countries. Members of Mr. Glenn's conducted tours are adults.

Mrs. Louise M. Glenn, associate professor of French language and literature at Scripps College and wife of T. H. Glenn, also conducts tours to Europe each summer. The group traveling with Mrs. Glenn are college students and young teachers. This group will take a tour similar to Mr. Glenn's visiting the same countries at different times. Mr. Glenn will spend several days during July at Stratford-On-Avon, Shakespeare's birthplace and tomb. The group will have the opportunity of attending a performance at the Shakespeare Memorial Theater.

For over two decades, Santa Ana College students have enjoyed Glenn's English classes where he has been able to present a personal knowledge of the culture of England and Europe.

Former El Don Head Is Editor In Germany

Editing two sports pages for the First Army Division Newspaper "The American Traveler" is the Army duty of ex-El Don Editor Dean Gautschy, who is attached to the public information office at Wurzburg, Germany.

An SAC graduate of 1951, Gautschy edited the El Don and was a member of the Knights, men's honor group, while at college.

He transferred to Pacific University after graduation, where he continued his journalism major and edited the Pacific University "Index."

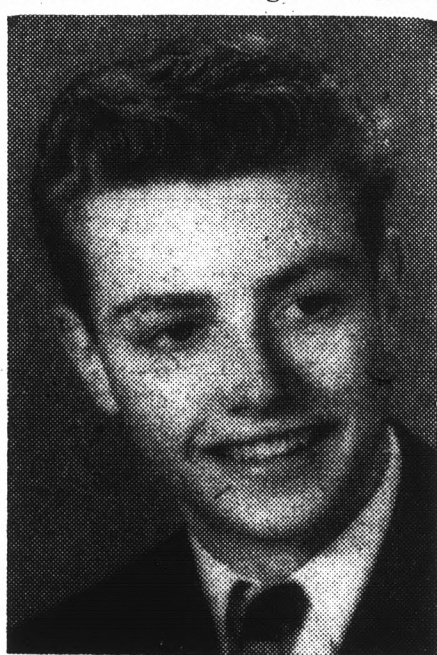

Gautschy was drafted during the summer of 1953 after graduation from Pacific University and did sixteen weeks of basic at Ft. Ord Calif.

"I've only had the sports editor position for a week here in Germany, but have fallen in love with the job already," Gautschy reports and adds that "The work is a great deal like the sports writing I did on the El Don."

Ex-SAC Editor Edits Ft. Ord Feature Page

John Dowden, SAC graduate of 1953 and former El Don Editor is currently working as entertainment page editor of the Fort Ord "Panorama," the post newspaper.

Dowden was graduated in June, 1953 and was drafted during the summer. He did eight weeks of basic before being assigned to the Panorama Staff.

While at SAC, Dowden was editor, sports editor and feature editor of the El Don, was Campus reporter for the Long Beach Press Telegram and reported campus sports for the L.A. Times and United Press.

He also served as ASB Vice-President and was a member of the student council for two semesters.

Previous to entering Santa Ana College, Dowden attended Orange high school where he was managing editor of the Orange high school Reflector. He was also sports editor on the high school weekly and studied journalism under Mrs. Jeanette Christopher.

Journalism Department Studies Theory Of News Work; Campus Paper Gives Practical Experience

(Editor's Note: Following is the eleventh of a series of articles written by Lorraine Elam, El Don reporter, to acquaint students with various departments of the college.)

"C. V. I've just got to have some developer. Will you let me take your car?" pleads the El Don photographer. "Mr. V., will you read this story?" asks the editor with urgency in his voice. He needs three more inches of copy to complete page one.

"How about that gimmick on the advertising angle we were talking about? Is it all right to use it?" inquires the advertising manager who is anxious to get started on a new promotion angle.

More, More Copy
The feature page editor comes in with the information that, "the print shop is calling for twenty more inches of copy to complete our quota for today." And the feature writer exclaims, "We've got to get busy on that interview if I'm going to write up the Journalism Department this week."

All this takes place in the space of ten minutes in the office of Mr. Carl Venstrom, head of the Department of Journalism at SAC. It may seem a bit confusing but C. V. loves it. His students are getting out the news and it reminds him of the hustle and bustle of the days when he was a Seattle newspaperman.

Theory and Practice
On Tuesdays and Thursdays, lectures are given on the theory of doing newspaper work, and on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays the students are putting this same theory into practice.

Some of the jobs learned by the editors, reporters and photographers of El Don are gathering and writing the news story, editorial, or feature story. They learn copy reading and editing, the writing of subheads, headlines, photography, writing outlines for pictures, and how to plan attractive page makeup, and proof reading. The advertising manager learns how to sell ads and write them.

Deadline Pressure
"Journalism students must learn to work together under deadline pressure in creating a product that will be read by students, faculty members and citizens outside the college," said C.V., who always has some hopeful advice or constructive suggestions to offer, for even the most colorless of stories turned in by the cub reporter.

"Students learn to assume responsibility, meet and interview people, take accurate notes, and write in an accurate and interesting fashion," said Venstrom adding, "Through their work on El Don the students become aware of the necessity of a free press within a democracy."

On days just before the paper comes off the presses, the students make frequent trips to the print shop on the Santa Ana High School campus, thus becoming aware of the problems of the printer.

Print Shop Experience
Mr. Richard Smith, former newspaperman and Instructor of Printing for the Santa Ana City Schools remarked that, "It is an invaluable training for the Journalism students to learn the printer's problems and also the print shop terminology, or in other words, to be able to speak the printer's language."

"In some Journalism offices teamwork between the printers and journalists has suffered because of a lack of this knowledge," he said, continuing, "Actual experience in the printshop impresses the students with the importance of the time factor and the constant pressure of deadlines."

Students Work With Type
The journalism students have practical experience in newspaper layout and makeup by actually doing the work.

"College training in journalism is direct preparation for the professional job," said Venstrom in a concluding interview, and added, "Many of our students have developed skills which enable them to hold responsible jobs in the newspaper field upon graduation, while others complete their journalism courses at four year colleges before going into newspaper work!"

Journalism Grad Reports For SJS College Newspaper

Spring 1952 El Don Editor Bill Shands is attending San Jose State College where he is continuing his journalism major and working on the Spartan Daily, SJS campus daily newspaper it was learned this week.

Shands, who graduated in 1953, was El Don editor, news editor and feature editor and was SAC Assembly Commissioner and a delegate to the 1953 California State Student Government Conference at Asilomar.

He worked on the Spartan Daily as reporter during the spring quarter. Under Shand's editorship the El Don won the coveted "All American" award from the University of Minnesota.

Santa Ana College Golf Team Travels To Victoria Course

A flight of five golfers, representing the Santa Ana College golf team, will tee off this afternoon in the opening match of the 1954 golf season against Riverside Junior College at the Victoria Country Club in Riverside.

Included in the Don five, which will take to the fairways of the 18 hole Riverside course, are Guy Bennett, Ronald Burkhart, Ray Echols, Jim Hart, and Ronald Gorzeman.

SAC's golf team was organized through student response to a call last semester for able golfers. The team, under the expert direction of Coach Bill Cook, will follow a prepared schedule and will match shots against many schools in the Eastern Conference league.

Mounties Out Slap SAC Tennis Team

Don tennis men dropped their most important match last Friday, losing to Mt. San Antonio College on the Mounties' courts.

Mt. SAC's chances of winning the Eastern Conference tennis championship look very good, for SAC was their only dangerous rival; none of the other schools in the league are expected to come near the Mounties.

Mt. SAC's Pedro Yanez, who ranks first in Southern California tennis competition defeated Bill Reed, of Santa Ana College, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5. Yanez broke Reed's service in the eleventh game of the third set to take the first singles.

Santa Ana won two doubles and one singles match but was overpowered by the tough Mounties. A summary of the match follows: Reed lost to Yanez 2-6, 6-2, 5-7; Blair lost to Stanford 4-6, 8-10; Mounce lost to Orselli 1-6, 2-6; Finster lost to Basou 2-6, 1-6; Kates lost to Barnett 5-7, 4-6; Palmer def. Knapp 6-1, 6-1; Reed and Caverly lost to Yanez and Stanford 1-6, 3-6; Mounce and Finster def. Orselli and Thompson 6-4, 1-6, 6-4; Blair and Palmer def. Basou and Barnett 6-4, 6-0.

DON TRACKMEN TRAVEL TO AAU RELAYS AT EAST LOS ANGELES

At East Los Angeles Junior College, on Saturday afternoon, less than two weeks ago, our Don trackmen represented Santa Ana College in the AAU Relays, finishing third in the Junior College Division.

A total of 48 colleges and junior colleges attended the meet. Each school, through classification, was placed in a specific class to insure fair competition. Santa Ana College competed against such schools as Ventura, Chaffey, Valley, Mt. San Antonio, Fullerton, and Glendale.

The opening event for Santa Ana College was the 440 yard relay, in which four Dons, Penny Conradt, Dick Carson, Chuck Neal, and Bert Kohnhorst, each ran 110 yards. This speedy Don foursome, with Kohnhorst as anchor man, won the relay, beating Mt. SAC and Valley, who finished two-three, respectively.

Field events, which began in the morning, continued throughout the afternoon in different sections of the stadium. Representing SAC in field events were Chuck Neal, broad jump, Bob Fitzpatrick, pole vault, and John Duchart, discus.

As the afternoon progressed,

SAC returned to the track to run in several other relays. About 2:00 p.m., Don distance men took to the track for the two-mile relay. The group, composed of Tommy Noll, Jim Suverkrubbe, Tommy Frazier, and Ed Denbow, met disaster this time, for they were beaten by three other schools, Mt. Sac, Valley, and Glendale, in that order.

During the rest of the afternoon, SAC appeared in three other contests, the mile relay, the 880 yard relay, in which McCosh, Keck, Neal, and Kohnhorst took part, and the distance medley relay, made up of Woolfe, Suverkrubbe, Frazer, and Denbow.

Win Third Place

By winning the 880 yard relay from Mt. San Antonio, Santa Ana College took third in the final standings of the Junior College Division. Valley, defending State champion, was the winner in this division with a total of 67 and one half points, while Mt. San Antonio finished second with 44 and one half; SAC's total for all events was 48 and one half.

Pirates Down Dons In League Opener

Last Friday afternoon our Don baseball men opened their 1954 conference schedule at Memorial Park and were set down by Orange Coast College 9-3.

Going into the game with a four-win, two-loss pre-league record, the Dons held on well against the Pirates, and when the ninth frame rolled around the Dons were only two runs behind. It was a ninth inning rally that gave Coast the victory, for they pushed over four big runs to make it 9-3.

Although he gave the Dons ten free trips to first base, the winning Pirate pitcher, Ted Herrera, struck out eleven batters and limited the Dons to only seven hits.

On the mound for Santa Ana College was Wylie Flores, who allowed the Pirates, last year's co-champions, a total of 14 hits during the game.

Bob Towey led the Don battery with three hits in four trips to the plate. Norman Williams slapped two, in four trips, and was credited with tagging home plate for two Don runs.

Dons Overrun Mounties; Eye League Title

By Don Allison

Don trackmen, taking a giant step toward the Eastern JC Conference championship, out fought and out scored Mt. San Antonio last Friday, 73 1-3 to 57 2-3, in the most thrilling local track battle seen to date.

The Dons, supported by the largest turn-out of SAC rooters so far this season, trailed slightly in the early stages of the meet, but, through the combined efforts of every man on the team, they recovered sharply to win by almost 16 points.

Unpredicted happenings helped to keep SAC in the running. Richard Woolfe, bucking a blistering pace, stole a third for the Dons in the 440, which was one of the races the Mounties had counted on sweeping. The quarter was run in a fast 50.6 seconds.

When the 220 rolled around, Mt. Sac boasted a small lead. The situation was soon changed, however, as Bert Kohnhorst won the 220 from Mt. Sac's Hap Hicks, while Richard Keck picked up another much needed third for the Dons.

Kohnhorst's victory in the 220 was not his first score of the day, for he won the 100 yard dash just a few minutes earlier in record breaking time, 9.9 seconds.

With the end of the meet in sight, and the score still close, the two-milers took the track. The finish of the final lap found SAC's Ed Denbow in the lead with his team mate Tommy Frazier finishing fastest of all for second. This one-two victory put SAC in the lead, 42-39.

Because of their fast quarter-milers, Mt. SAC was strongly favored to take the mile relay, which would give them five final points.

But the Mounties met defeat before the relay came about. As the scores of the field events came in, it was certain that SAC had won. Holcombe won the shot put for the Dons; Duchart won the discus; Bryan and Carson placed one-two in the javelin; Neal won the broad jump.

The final touches were put on by that old combination of Carson and Neal. Dick Carson won the 220 yard low hurdles, and Chuck Neal followed Carson home in second place to beat out Mt. Sac's Billy Gilbert.
